CARD.

If J. F. Bledsoe will call at The Democrar office, immediately, he will hear of some-thing which should interest him very much.

The little girl who was run over yesterday by the careless driving of two ladies, is, luckily, not fatally injured.

The much dreaded disease, diphtheria, is taking too strong a hold in the city at present. It is astonishing that the filth in some

December 27th of grand larceny was par-doned by Governor West yesterday. A pe-tition from Beaver was handed him, signed by the most influential citizens of that place, together with the signatures of Judge Zane and some others. The petition stated that Ferguson was a mere youth, weak-minded and the only support to a widowed

F. Kahn, a prominent Leadville Commis sion man, is in the city purchasing sup-plies. He reports things lively along the line of the Colorado Midland and says that they are now working an army of three thousand men on the construction.

Mr. M. Kinney, who has been reading law with Arthur Brown Esq., leaves to-day for Telluride, Colorado. Mr. K. has made many friends while here and they will be pleased to see his smiling face whenever he visits Salt Lake. Shake, Old Boy!

Three thousand bushels of potatoes were East street since March 7th, 2,400 bushels of which were shipped to California. This market will close at about the end of this month, and the shipments next month will probably be to Colorado.

Messrs. John Plankington and P. D. Armour, of the well known Chicago packing firm, are, with their families, stopping at the Walker House. Mr. Plankington is not only one of the firm which does the greatest pork and lard business in the world, but is also the proprietor of the well known Plankington House at Milwaukee.

THE NEW POSTOFFICE, Where the Democratic Postmaster, Mr.

Since "Barny," as he is familiarly called, took charge of this department of the Government here, he has shown himself to be a first-class man for the position, thus being a credit to the Administration which appointed him. The office is located in the rear end of Mr. Q.'s store, from which it is conveniently partitioned off. In the centre of said partition is, without doubt, the handsomest postoffice cabinet in the Territory. It contains thirty-two lockent. EDITOR DEMOGRAT: "The temperance billiard room * * * ought to be patronized in preference to those 'joints' where vinous beverages are sold." [Ogden jottings, Salt Lake Tribune, March 18.]

Verily, "A Daniel come to judgment! Yea, a Mc." The Tribune, by its silence, endorses the position which, to an unprejudiced observer, seems similar to that of the liberal Pilgrims who come to this country to worship as they deemed proper and compel others to do the same. so long as the selling of "vinous beverages" is licensed, the sellers ought to be entitled to respectable treatment, but this appears to be out of the question.

A small Puritanical class in our midst, caring nothing for results, seem determined to rule or ruin; for an analysis of portunity to show the intolerance and deceit so characteristic of its leaders, and again history repeated itself. Two years ago, certain heavy payers asked the Council to grant them imporary relief, but as the petitioners belonged to that "hated and disreputable" class known as "liquor men," a great amount of buncombe was expended by members of the "band." Indeed, one long-haired exhorter, practically a stranger, addressed the Council in opposi-After hand-shaking with old acquaint-inces, and partaking of something to opening remarks, that he had not in-

It really looks as if filthy lucre had something to do with this opposition to the liquor business, as it is opposed and oppressed to the point when the last dollar can be extracted from it. Then opposition sition ceases. They will proceed no fur-ther. The 'truly good' don't ask for prohibition, which is in the power of the city; oh, no, they want the money. I would again have the troops upon the march; I would again have the battle scenes portrayed; I would again have the hospital, with its ministering angels of women, attending those who were sick and women, attending those who were sick and wounded; I would have all those who fell in that great struggle, both upon the victorious side and that of the vanquished; I would have the leaders upon both sides here; I would not only have these, but I appeal in the polygamy case, on which he is likely to get another big dose.

many prominent Gentiles as well as Mor The funeral services were conducted by Bishop Watson, of the Nineteenth ward, and the music was rendered by the choir of the same ward. by the choir of the same Joseph Derbidge offered the open follower ing prayer and was followed by Bishop Whitney, who delivered a beautiful discourse. His utterance were most appropriate, and the selection of words showed excellent judgment on the part of the speaker. Following him, A. M. Cannon made some brief remarks. The remains, which lay in a beautiful silver-mounted casket, covered over with floral tributes were then viewed by those present and were closed from sight forever.

A long line of carriages followed the hearse to the city cemetery, and all that was mortal of Mrs. Hooper was laid away by the side of her husband, and after s brief and impressive ceremony the grave was filled and the mourners came away IN JUDGE ZANE'S COURT.
